SEAFDEC Gender Strategy:
Mainstreaming gender in SEAFDEC and its programs

The Southeast Asian Fisheries Development Center (SEAFDEC) is an autonomous intergovernmental body with the vision towards “sustainable management and development of fisheries and aquaculture to contribute to food security, poverty alleviation and livelihood of people in the Southeast Asian region.” Working with the national fisheries agencies in 11 SEAFDEC Member Countries as well as with relevant partners, and being aware that gender is one of the important issues in ensuring the sustainable development of the fisheries sector of Southeast Asia, which includes largely small-scale fisheries and aquaculture, SEAFDEC is therefore adopting its Gender Strategy to facilitate gender mainstreaming at all levels of the organization, and serve as an organizational overarching framework to facilitate SEAFDEC’s efforts in integrating gender in its programs, projects, and activities. The SEAFDEC Gender Strategy is also intended to subsequently support the integration of gender perspectives in fisheries and aquaculture in the Member Countries of SEAFDEC.

International and Regional Policies on Gender in Fisheries

In recognition of the global issues related to food security and alleviation of poverty over the past decades, the international, regional, and national communities have been giving more focus on gender equity in sustainable development. Given such background, the UN Sustainable Development Goals include targets that address issues on gender, human rights, and social well-being in small-scale fisheries development. Likewise, gender equity and equality are also upheld as fundamental guiding principles in the FAO Voluntary Guidelines for Securing Sustainable Small-scale Fisheries in the Context of Food Security and Poverty Eradication (SSF Guidelines) that calls for concerted efforts on the part of all stakeholders to include gender equality as integral part of all small-scale fisheries development strategies.

In the Southeast Asian region, gender perspective has also been highlighted in the ASEAN-SEAFDEC Plan of Action on Sustainable Fisheries for Food Security for the ASEAN Region Towards 2020, which calls for “strengthened capacity of relevant stakeholders and harmonized initiatives that support fishing communities and governments, with a special focus on the women and youth.” During the Special Meeting of the SEAFDEC Council in November 2017, the Council adopted the Resolution on the Future of SEAFDEC, including the Vision, Mission, and Strategies Towards 2030, specifically stating “Strategy 5: Addressing cross-cutting issues, such as labor, gender and climate change, where related to international fisheries.”
